PREFACE.

THE first catalogue of officers and students ever issued by Boston University was included, as Part First, in the Annual Report of the School of Theology for the year 1871-72. At that time the just adopted School of Theology was the only department maintained by the University, and its faculty and students constituted the total scholastic body. As it happened, that scholastic year closed the first third of a century since the projecting of the School in Boston, and the first quarter of a century since its opening in Concord. Accordingly a large part of the Annual Report was appropriately devoted to a historical sketch of the founding and fortunes of the institution. On pp. 48-51 all past officers of instruction were named, together with their years of service. Then, under the successive years, the names of all students entering from year to year were given, with indication of those who later attained the honor of graduation. Thus it came to pass that the first Annual Catalogue ever issued by the University was in the same cover with an elaborate historical register covering more than a quarter of a century.

Ten years later, in the eighth volume of the University Year Book, appeared a second retrospective summary of results, classified by years, by departments and by degrees; the names of all persons promoted by the University up to that time were there printed for the convenience of all interested.

In 1891, another decade having passed, a new and independent volume was issued which, under the title "Historical Register of Boston University," recorded all promotions to that date. From the numerical summary at the close it appeared that of those graduated by the University 1,914 were men, 493 women; total 2,407, of whom 2,307 were supposed to be living. The whole number of adopted graduates, alumni of the theological department before its incorporation in the University, was 237, of whom 203 were supposed to be living.

The present volume is thus the fourth official decennial catalogue of the persons that have obtained life-membership in the University by promotion into the Convocation. It also includes the names of the persons that have had a place in the government of the institution, or upon its staff of instruction.

In the Preface to the issue of 1891 the reasons for the selection of the name "Historical Register" were given; also a reference to the fuller information respecting graduates at one time sought for in its pages. A few errors that escaped notice in the same issue have here been corrected.

The chief labor in preparing the present edition has been performed by Mr. John M. Boyd, A. B., Librarian and Secretary of the School of Law. If among the thousands of figures and letters no one should turn out to be wrong, it would be little less than a miracle. In works of this kind the maximum of correctness can be attained only by the painstaking coöperation of many. The undersigned, therefore, urgently requests that any error herein discovered, however slight, be promptly reported to him, that he may make the proper correction and hold it for the next edition.

CHRONOLOGICAL NOTES.

In the beginning was the Word.
And the Word was made flesh,
And dwelt among us.

A.D. 1-664.

Ex Oriente Lux. Evangelization of Great Britain.

664-690.

Theodore (a Greek born in Tarsus), Archbishop of Canterbury. Founds in Canterbury a school for the promotion of the knowledge of Greek and other good learning.

672-735.

The Venerable Bede, a native Anglo-Saxon trained in the school established by Theodore, devotes a long and peaceful life to the cultivation of letters, and "makes himself master of the whole range of existing knowledge." He writes Latin prose and verse fluently, and with his dying breath completes a translation of the Gospel of John into the language of his own people.

735-804.

Alcuin, born in Yorkshire, later "the intellectual prime minister of Charlemagne."

849-900.

Alfred the Great, chief teacher as well as king of his people. According to tradition, founder of the University of Oxford.

872-1326.

Oxford becomes a center of intellectual and spiritual life. Endowed Christian colleges there founded as follows: University (legendary date), 872; Balliol, 1263; Merton, 1264; Exeter, 1314; Oriel, 1326; soon followed by many more. 1214-92, Roger Bacon, "the Admirable Doctor," precursor of Francis Bacon and Sir Isaac Newton, pioneer teacher and discoverer in the field of the natural sciences. His last years spent in prison for exposing the ignorance and vice of the monks and clergy. Motto of the University (from Ps. xxvii. 1) : Dominus illuminatio mea.

1327-1384.

John Wyclif, born 1324 or 1327. In 1340 a commoner in the just founded Queen's College. Later, Fellow of Merton; 1360-65, Warden of Balliol; 1365-70, Master of Canterbury Hall, which was afterwards merged in Christ Church College. In 1372 created Doctor in Sacred Theology. Opposes corruptions in the Church, and translates the Bible into the English tongue, so giving it for the first time to the people. Dies 1384.

1340-1400.

Geoffrey Chaucer, a disciple of Wyclif, and "Father of English Poetry."

1427.

Lincoln College founded as a defense against the spread of Wyclif's teachings and spirit.

1428.

Wyclif's body disinterred and burned by the authorities of the Church. His ashes are cast into a little tributary of the Avon, called Swift Brook, and thus, says Fuller, "this brook did convey his ashes into Avon, Avon into Severn, Severn into the narrow sea, and this into the wide ocean. And so the ashes of Wyclif are the emblem of his doctrine which is now dispersed all the world over." Compare Wordsworth's sonnet.

1477-1536.

William Tyndale continues at Oxford the work of Wyclif, publishes a new translation of the Bible, which becomes the basis of the Authorized Version; associates with the Continental Reformers, and dies at the stake.

1489-1545.

William Latimer, humanist and friend of Erasmus, becomes Fellow of All Souls' College, 1489; dies 1545. Erasmus in Oxford, 1498-99; is later, Lady Margaret Professor of Divinity in Cambridge; later, publishes first edition of the Greek New Testament ever printed. German and Swiss Reformers also visit England, several residing protracted periods.

1555.

Archbishop Cranmer, and Bishops Latimer and Ridley, bearing witness to the sacred truths they had maintained against the errors of the Church of Rome, burned at the stake, in Oxford, near Balliol College.

1584.

Emmanuel College founded in Cambridge — the first to be organized for the propagation of Puritan principles. In it were educated many of the founders of New England, among them Rev. John Harvard, in memory of whom the first Puritan college in the New World, founded 1636, is named.

1647-1660.

The Reformation, in its extreme Puritan form, at last triumphs in Oxford, 1647. John Milton in the employ of the Commonwealth, 1649-60. The Restoration, 1660.

1703-1791.

John Wesley, six years Scholar of Christ Church College, Oxford, 1720-26; nineteen years Fellow of Lincoln College, 1726-52, Teacher in philosophy, lecturer on Greek language and literature. moderator of debates, preacher to the University, director of the "Holy Club" for New Testament study — a new Wyclif in the very college founded two hundred years earlier for the extirpation of the leaven of Wyclif's teaching.

1714-1770.

George Whitefield, of Pembroke College, joins the Holy Club, 1735. Disciple and lifelong friend of John Wesley. Assists William Tennett, originally of Trinity College, Dublin, in establishing the College of New Jersey and Princeton Theological Seminary, the oldest belonging to the American Presbyterians. Through Lord Dartmouth and Eleazer Wheelock, the latter an American, and a graduate of Yale, he aids in the founding of Dartmouth College, in New Hampshire. James Manning, educated in the College of New Jersey, class of 1762, becomes founder and first President of Brown University, oldest of Baptist colleges in America, opened in Providence, R. I., 1770, the year of Whitefield's death. Like John Wesley, Roger Williams, the founder of this Colony of Rhode Island, was educated at the Charterhouse School, London; and like Thomas Coke, was an alumnus of Jesus College, Oxford.

1747-1814.

Thomas Coke, son of the chief magistrate of Brecon, Wales, born

1747. In 1763, Gentleman Commoner in Jesus College, Oxford, with which he maintains connection twelve years. Is promoted to the Bachelor's degree in 1768, to the Master's in 1770, to the degree of Doctor of Civil Law in 1775. In 1771 is ordained deacon, and the following year a presbyter in the Church of England. Becomes curate of South Petherton, Somersetshire. A book on regeneration by President Witherspoon of the College of New Jersey, with other influences, prepares him to become an associate and eminent colleague of John Wesley.

1784.

Thomas Coke and Francis Asbury, on designation of John Wesley, by unanimous vote of the General Conference, at Baltimore, are constituted first Bishops of the first national church organization effected in the new American Republic, the Methodist Episcopal Church. Cokesbury College, established the same year, and located at Abingdon, Md., is planned, with improvements, after the model of Jesus College, Oxford; named in honor of Coke and Asbury, and administered under their supervision.

1824-1831.

Abel Bliss, educated at Cokesbury College, a Massachusetts senator, participates as second of the incorporators in the establishment of Wesleyan Academy, Wilbraham, Mass., in 1824, and becomes first Secretary of its Board of Trustees. Wilbur Fisk, a graduate of Brown University, is made first Principal of the institution. In 1831, the friends of Wesleyan Academy procure a charter incorporating Wesleyan University, at Middletown, Conn. The Hon. Abel Bliss is one of the original Trustees of the University, and Wilbur Fisk its first President.

1839.

As a suitable commemoration of the first Centennial of Ecumenical Methodism, officers, graduates, and friends of Wesleyan Academy, and of Wesleyan University, in an educational convention, held in Boston, and representing all the New England States, project an institution for ministerial training, which after twenty-five experimental years at Newbury, Vt., and at Concord, N. H., is, in the year 1867, removed to Boston, and here opened as the Boston Theological Seminary. Osmon C. Baker, first Theological Professor at Newbury, later Bishop, and second President of the Faculty at Concord, was the first student ever registered in Wesleyan University.

Isaac Rich, Lee Claflin, and Jacob Sleeper (at the time, President, Vice-President, and Treasurer, respectively, of the Boston Theological Seminary; also, all of them Trustees of Wesleyan Academy, and of Wesleyan University) procure from the Legislature of Massachusetts a charter incorporating BOSTON UNIVERSITY, and constituting them, their associates and successors, Trustees of the same. Among these associates, sharing in the action of the first meeting, were the following graduates of Wesleyan University: Gilbert Haven, Class of '46; William F. Warren, Class of '53; David Patten, Class of '34; John H. Twombly, Class of '43; John W. Lindsay, Class of '40; and William R. Clark, Class of '52. A graduate of Wesleyan University drew up the charter, and His Excellency William Claflin, who, as governor of Massachusetts, officially approved it, after passage by the Legislature, was a Doctor of Laws of Harvard University, and son of the second incorporator. Within seven years, seven Colleges and Schools are found in successful operation within the University organization. So shall the bright succession run
Through all the courses of the sun;
And unborn teachers, wiser still,
The world with light and learning fill.

1901 . .	LORENZO D. BAKER	. . . . .

The place of the first meeting of the Trustees, together with many other interesting topographical and historical facts connected with the beginnings of the institution, may be found recorded in the Seventh Annual Report of the President of the University, printed the year of the celebration of the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the city of Boston. The passage referred to is perhaps noticeable in another respect, it being in all likelihood the longest single sentence to be found in any language. Independent of its illustrative footnotes, which contain over eight hundred, the sentence itself contains fifteen hundred and twenty words.
